

JUDGE SUSTAINS DOLLAR VERDICT OF LOCAL JURY

Motions of Roberts' Attorney For New Trial Are Denied

A decision, denying motions of the plaintiff for a setting aside of the verdict and the granting of a new trial in the $15,000 alienation of affections damage suit of Fred O. Roberts against Albert W. Manley, upholding the verdict of the jury and granting a judgment of $1 against the defendant, has been handed down by Judge Byron B. Park in circuit court.

The case, which was tried at the December term of circuit court here, went to the jury after two days in the court room. The jury, which included four women, returned a verdict finding the defendant, Albert W. Manley, guilty of alienating the affections of Roberts' wife and assessing the damages at $1.

Cites Five Points

A motion was filed in the case by the attorney for Roberts, asking Judge Park to set aside the verdict and grant a new trial on five grounds, citing that the verdict was contrary to law, contrary to evidence, the damages were inadequate, the verdict was perverse and "because it is not within the province of the jury to render a verdict for nominal damages only." Attorneys for Manley insisted that the verdict should stand and asked a judgment of $1.

In Judge Park's decision, in which the case is reviewed, he says:

"Suffered no Damages"

"I believe the jury made the $1 finding because they believed from Mrs. Roberts' testimony and other testimony in the case bearing on the proposition, that the plaintiff suffered no damages."

In another portion of the decision, Judge Park stated, "I do not find anything in this case convincing me that the small damages can be attributed to error, passion or prejudice. The jury seemingly found the defendant guilty but also it seems, believed the evidence offered in mitigation of damages. The judgment will be for the plaintiff for the damages found by the jury."

Arguments Postponed

Arguments on the motions were to have been made in court here before Judge Park last Monday, but because of inability of attorneys to be present, the date was postponed.

Roberts has the power, through his attorney, to appeal the case to the supreme court.

TWO MEN HELD HERE WANTED IN INDIANA

Clyde Ryder and Jack Preston are in County Jail on Charge of Stealing a Car

Two men, giving their names as Clyde Ryder and Jack Preston, and their homes as Indianapolis, Ind., are in the county jail here and two Indianapolis policemen, Jess McMurphy and Charles Belmore, arrived here today, to take them to the Indiana city to answer to a charge of theft of a Ford runabout.

Ryder and Preston were arrested Saturday evening by Deputy Sheriff Manuel Berry on the Soo line Portage passenger train, and following a severe grilling given the two at the county jail, police at Indianapolis were notified.

The two were suspected at first of having stolen the runabout of Dell King of this city, which was taken from a spot near the fair grounds some weeks ago. Preston and Ryder on Saturday afternoon sold a Ford runabout to Mark Stafford at Plainfield and then proceeded to come to Stevens Point. Acting on a tip, Deputy Sheriff Berry placed the men under arrest on suspicion of their having taken the local man's machine.

The story which Preston and Ryder told failed to stand under examination and suspicion caused the sending of a message to Indianapolis police. Instructions to hold the two for the Indianapolis authorities were immediately received.

It is understood that the car was stolen in July in Indianapolis, and that Ryder had secured a license plate for the machine in his own name. The car was sold to the Plainfield man for $75. It is stated, Harry Bolster, Indianapolis, is said to be the owner of the runabout.

Rolling Stock Fast Becoming Dangerous Brotherhoods Claim

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 8.—Conflicting reports on the condition of rolling stock on western roads reached the United Press today. Rail brotherhood presidents asserted that engines and cars are fast becoming dangerous to operate and intimated a new crisis loomed. Rail executives of the western roads issued a statement declaring conditions were "increasingly favorable."

In the meantime, the railroad labor board issued an invitation to the executives and unions, to bring the seniority question before the board. This action was taken at a special meeting last night. The invitation not only expressed "willingness to hear the seniority dispute," but promised a rehearing on the wage and working rules conditions, two original causes of the strike. The third issue was on contract labor, which the carriers already agreed to accept.

The action of the board came after reports of the refusal of both executives and unions to consider the latest peace proposal from the White House. It was therefore not believed that the board's invitation would be accepted.

Strike Effect Serious

W. A. Parranto, vice president of the Northwest Federated shopcraft at Minneapolis, in an exclusive statement to the United Press, declared that the shopmen's strike is just beginning to become effective. "Today there is not one locomotive, race car or passenger car, in this section of the country, in first class condition," he asserted. "I have just completed a two weeks' tour of inspecting. Trains are being hauled by locomotives that should not be permitted to operate without overhauling. Brakes are in bad condition and the lives of passengers and crews are in danger. The shopmen did not expect their strike to be felt until 30 or 60 days. It is just beginning to become effective."

Union leaders at Madison, Wis., were practically the only ones who reported train service unhampered by the railroad strike. They declared engineers and firemen are inspecting all engines and that new employees and executives imported into the shops, were handling the repair work.

Conflicting reports were circulated in Chicago. The railroads claimed the shop work was progressing favorably. Union leaders claimed rolling stock was in bad condition and fast becoming dangerous. L. B. Hart, chairman of the Big Four strikers at Indianapolis, claimed all equipment was in bad condition.

Local brotherhood officials at Sacramento, Calif., asserted that locomotives and cars on the Southern Pacific, were in dangerous condition, and the brotherhoods were considering a protest. "Rolling stock is dangerous because there are few mechanics being hired by the road to replace the shopmen."

N. O. Brocker, chairman of the shopcraft strikers at Lincoln, Neb., and brotherhood representative at Denver, declared that railroad equipment was rapidly growing worse and the trainmen were daily becoming more reluctant to "risk their lives" on defective equipment. In many instances, reports indicated equipment was in bad shape. Brotherhood leaders declared, however, that they were reported to national headquarters, and refused to make an official statement.

Union leaders in Portland, Ore., claimed a shortage of cars. Those available are being diverted to move perishable commodities. Reports were also received of dirty boilers, dirty fire boxes, etc. On the other hand, the Western Presidents' association, in a statement made public at Chicago, stated that the rebuilding of shop forces was rapidly under way. The return of experienced shopmen in increasingly large numbers was also indicated. "The western roads reported that they are handling freight traffic in the normal way. As to the passenger traffic, the curtailment service applies practically without exception to unprofitable and unnecessary trains," the statement said.

Gompers Wants Facts

Washington, Aug. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement today, demanded that the public be informed as to whether the rail strike had caused locomotives to deteriorate to the point where their condition endangered the lives of trainmen and passengers. He charged the rail managers have given no satisfactory explanation of recent wrecks, such as the one on the Missouri Pacific in Missouri, in which "35 people were killed and more than 100 injured."

RUDOLPH CHILD AT PLAY MEETS INSTANT DEATH

Norman Wilkins, Aged Four, Falls Under Wheels of Tiny Cars

Norman, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilkins of the village of Rudolph, was instantly killed Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, when he was run over by three cars on an "industrial railroad" operating on road construction work through the main street of the village.

The little boy fell under the wheels of the cars when he attempted to jump off the train, on which he was riding, while it was moving. His skull was fractured, chest crushed and his body otherwise bruised and battered. The accident occurred directly in front of his parents' home.

In Front of Home

There were eight cars in the train, drawn by two teams, and moving on a down grade. The boy got on the cars when they were stopped, to take a ride. Going down hill, the train gathered momentum, and when he jumped off as the cars passed in front of his home, his foot became caught. It is believed, and he was thrown under the wheels. The cars were empty. A Rudolph woman, a neighbor of the Wilkins family, picked up the lifeless body of the child and took it into the Wilkins residence.

The funeral was held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Stephen's church in this city, burial following in St. Stephen's cemetery. Rev. James C. Hogan officiating.

Four Children Remain

Besides the parents, there are four children remaining in the Wilkins family, the youngest, Orville, being ten months of age. The others are Forrest, Marjorie and Robert.

Mrs. Wilkins is a daughter of Mrs. Anna Spalenka, 428 Normal avenue. Mr. Wilkins is at present a patient in a Wausau hospital, where he has been for several months. His condition has been considered serious for some time.

MRS. PHILIP ROTHMAN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Widow of Late Merchant and Former Mayor Passes Away After Sudden Attack

Death early this morning removed one of Stevens Point's best known women, Mrs. Philip Rothman, who passed away suddenly at her home at 527 Clark street after having suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Although not in the best of health for almost a year, the end was entirely unexpected and came at a time when Mrs. Rothman was apparently recovering. She had been up and about her home as usual on Monday and had not been confined to her bed in recent months. The affliction causing her death was the second attack, she having been stricken last September.

Mrs. Rothman was almost a lifelong resident of Stevens Point, coming to the city from Blue Island, Ill., her birthplace, when a child. Her maiden name was Ida Bahner and she was in the 64th year of her age.

Her marriage to Philip Rothman took place in Stevens Point in July, 1879. Mr. Rothman, who died on Dec. 5, 1906, was a prominent business man here for many years and a former mayor of the city. The merchandising establishment which he conducted up to the time of his death has since been continued under the management of two sons, E. H. and Win Rothman, and under the firm name of P. Rothman and Company.

The surviving relatives are four children, Mrs. Anna Turnell and Miss Lucille Rothman at the family home, E. H. and Win Rothman, city, one sister, Mrs. Irving S. Hull, city, and a half-brother, Adolph Hoeffler of Milwaukee.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed up to this afternoon.

WELSHY VISITS WAUPACA IN CAMPAIGN INTERESTS

Mr. Welshy, who is a candidate for the Republican congressional nomination, expects to devote considerable time to a tour of the entire Eighth district during the coming month, making brief tours via automobile, but will not neglect in any detail his duties as chief executive of Stevens Point.

It's Too Hot To Work, Anyhow

COURT WILL GIVE $2,000 JUDGMENT

Defendant Claims Deputy in Charge of Rooms Was Prejudiced In Case

A decision which will grant the plaintiff a judgment of $2,000, provided the plaintiff agrees to certain matters specified by Judge Byron B. Park, was handed down by the judge in circuit court.

The decision is in the case of Thomas Gasparus against George Sutherland of this city and Mrs. Betsy Moss of the town of Plover. Gasparus sued for $2,900, charging false and fraudulent representation of a farm by Sutherland, owned by Mrs. Moss. The case was argued at the May term of circuit court here, and a special verdict, favorable to the plaintiff, was returned.

Attorney for Gasparus moved for a judgment of $2,500, while the defendants asked an order setting aside the verdict and granting a new trial. In connection with the motions filed by the defendant and asking a new trial, an affidavit was filed, signed by George Sutherland and charging that E. E. Carpenter, a deputy sheriff on duty in the court rooms had been prejudiced in the case in favor of the plaintiff and that a remark he made to Sutherland, which it was claimed by Sutherland was heard by several members of the jury, had influenced the jury's verdict.

In Sutherland's affidavit it was claimed that Carpenter said: "You had better get out your pocketbook, we are going to beat you, you beat that fellow and we are going to beat you." Carpenter, in an affidavit which was filed with the clerk of the circuit court, stated that his words were "You had better get out your pocketbook, the jury is going to beat you." He also stated that his words were not heard by members of the jury, and not a partisan or prejudicial statement, but only his private opinion.

In Judge Park's decision he states that if the plaintiff will consent to changing the value of the Moss farm from $2,800, as set by the jury, to $3,000, and the value of Moran, Ia., property which figured in the case, from $1,800 as fixed by the jury to $1,300, a judgment of $2,000 will be granted. Unless the plaintiff consents to this settlement, the verdict will be set aside and a new trial ordered, the decision.

Embargo Rescinded Coal to be Shipped To Lake Shore Ports

Madison, Aug. 8.—The Interstate Commerce commission embargo against all coalboat shipments of coal to ports on the west shore of Lake Michigan was rescinded in effect in a letter from Fuel Administrator Henry Spencer, to Wisconsin.

The coal commission today intimated that the entire system of the state's rationing, described under the Hoover system, would not be adhered to in the northwest, as given the state commission in Spencer's letter.

The letter said: "Inasmuch as the needs in your state have been supplied in part from the same docks on the Great Lakes, arrangements somewhat different from those prescribed in detail in my general letter, will probably be necessary and a system adopted which may be in the nature of pooling."

A telegram to the state railroad commission promised the immediate shipment of requested public utility coal by boat to Milwaukee. Other Wisconsin lake ports opened by this order are Racine, Sheboygan and Green Bay.

KENTUCKY MINE OWNERS HOLDING COAL, IS CHARGE

State Fuel Administration Wires Protest Against Profiteering to Washington—Distribution Plan Announced

Madison, Wis., Aug. 8.—Simultaneously with a protest to the national fuel administration that mine owners in Kentucky are profiteering on large supplies of bituminous coal held in cars at Louisville, the Wisconsin fuel administration today announced that the urgent fuel needs of the state will be supplied by distribution through coal dealers and agencies now in operation.

"Great quantities of coal are being delayed in shipment, by holding it for sale to the highest bidder at prices up to several times normal," Edward Nordman, Wisconsin fuel administrator, wired to H. S. Spencer, federal fuel administrator.

"The demand is so pressing that this committee believes all should be treated alike as to price. Cannot this practice be stopped immediately by the federal government to the end that profiteering may be prevented, in this time of great need? Coal consigned to Wisconsin from Kentucky mines has not been moved outside of Kentucky in thirty days," Nordman said.

REMOVE ROAD SIGNS FOND DU LAC RULES

Only Official Markers Directing Traffic to Stay Up on Highways in That County

Signboards within the right of way of roads in Fond du Lac county are taboo and the owners of erectors of the signs have been given 30 days by the highway committee of the county board in which to remove their advertisements.

The Fond du Lac Reporter contains the following:

"By the terms of a resolution adopted by the committee George Treleven, highway commissioner, has been instructed to notify all persons who have erected signs on the right of way on any county or state trunk highway that they must be removed within 30 days and that if they are not removed within that length of time the county highway office will have them taken down."

"The committee's edict applies to all signs of whatever character, with the exception of highway directional signs, that may have been erected within the fence line of the county and state highways. Advertising boards tacked to the fences are included in the decision if they are on the road side of the fence."

"The action will not affect trail signs similar to the Yellowstone trail markers, since they come under the head of highway directional signs."

"The action of the county committee is in line with the decision of the county board at its last session, when it was decided that signs should be removed from the roads."

"The committee action empowering the county highway commissioner to remove the signs accords with the generally accepted view that the confusion of signs along the state and county roads is an inconvenience and at times a danger to traffic."

"The highway committee also instructed the highway commissioner to prosecute persons taking down barricades and traveling on roads under construction. Some trouble has been encountered from this source this summer and damage to the road jobs has resulted. Drastic action will be taken to relieve the nuisance."

Coan and an employee at the Whiting-Plover paper mill, fell 16 feet through an elevator shaft from the first floor to the basement on Saturday, alighting on his back and badly hurting his spine. He was brought to St. Michael's hospital and may have to remain there several weeks.

U. S. SEIZURE SEEN IN CALL BY PRESIDENT

House Members Asked to Return to Act on Emergency Legislation

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—President Harding requested that all members of the house be back in Washington next Tuesday, so both branches of congress will be ready to provide promptly any legislation deemed necessary to meet the critical rail and coal strike situation.

The executive's action, accompanied by a White House declaration that the seriousness of the present industrial crisis cannot be "undervalued," was taken as an indication that the federal government feels it will have to take over the railroads or the mines or both, in order to protect public welfare. If the twin strikes are not settled soon. In such an event, it would be necessary to have congress pass legislation providing methods of operation.

The original plan was for a few members of the house to return next Tuesday and then take a three days recess, until the senate took final action on the tariff measure. The president's action therefore virtually amounts to summoning the house, which has been in recess for about a month, back to Washington, to meet any emergency that may arise. Admitting that the coal strikes are "serious," Harding, it is stated, "suggested" to house leaders that they abandon plans of three days recesses after August 15.

Only Two Moves Left

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—Governmental seizure of the railroads in the public interest, today appeared inevitable, as leaders of both sides in the rail strike indicated their opposition to President Harding's latest proposal for settling this morning's dispute. The rejection of the proposal will leave the president with only two moves, the administration said, a call for a conference between rail executives and strikers' leaders to settle their trouble, and this failing, to take over the railroads. The president indicated he is nearing the end of his efforts to mediate the dispute.

Bert M. Jewell, president of the shopcraft workers, and other leaders in conference here, made it known that they are opposed to having their men return to work and leaving a determination on the seniority question to the railroad labor board, as proposed by President Harding.

Answer will be made to Harding tomorrow, when leaders of the shopcraft men meet here to pass on the proposal. More ominous than the stand of the leaders on the seniority question, is the call for a general conference here Friday, to leaders of the railroad labor unions. This was issued by Bert M. Jewell and his colleagues.

Drastic Action Seen

Cleveland, O., Aug. 8.—Grave possibility of drastic action by the big rail brotherhoods, which will make the shopmen's strike more effective, developed today when Warren Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers, called a conference of shopmen leaders and heads of all railroad unions. Stone called the conference at the request of Bert M. Jewell, chairman of the striking shopcraft union, William H. Johnston, president of the machinists' union, and J. N. Noonan, head of the electric workers.

Way Men Strike Looms

Madison, Wis., Aug. 8.—The first unauthorized walk-out of the maintenance way men was threatened here today, by J. H. Vanderhei, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad maintenance men. "Thousands of our employees on the Milwaukee road will walk out, unless the maintenance of way men are relieved from carmen's work," Vanderhei said.

Vanderhei said he received wires from points all over the line, telling of attempts to force the maintenance of way men to car repair work, and on refusal, the discharge of the men.

Members of the executive board of the Milwaukee union were meeting with Vanderhei here today, to consider grievances. The entire board will take the problem to the Detroit meeting of the national union, to be presided over by President Grable, later in the week.

President Harding's Labors in the Cause of Industrial Peace

President Warren G. Harding is doing everything he can to bring about a resumption of coal mining in the union mines and resumption of work in the railway shops. He is making his acts reasonable. He represents not merely the men, and not merely the mine owners and railroads; he represents them and much more than them—the whole public which is now suffering because of the two strikes.

Looking back a few days how absurd and unfair must now sound to the fair-minded workman on strike the attacks on the president who at this time constitutes the main hope of the railroad strikers. President Harding is trying to get the men back on their jobs under conditions in which they will lose nothing of the seniority rights, which means permanency of employment, and will have full opportunity to take their wage question again before the labor board. The railroads are opposing this settlement, and the president will probably have to force it upon them, as he will almost certainly do. Without his intervention the strike would be apt to drag on for months. The strikers, if they do return soon, will owe it largely to him that their places and privileges are restored.

The president has not changed his attitude. He has been fair all the time. But, as all fair men, he is subject to attack by partisans who can see only their own side of the case. President Harding is big enough to be unaffected by the abuse of extremists. He has had the courage to do the right thing, and he is not to be forced from his position by either strikers or railroad interests. While his activities at this time are most decidedly helpful to the strikers, he is acting not as a partisan of them, but as the president of the whole country. Knowing that controversies can best be settled by compromise, he offers fair compromise.

A great deal of credit properly was given to President Roosevelt for settling a great coal strike, yet that strike was not so difficult to handle as either of those agitating the country today, and while President Harding has not yet succeeded in settling either, he is in a fair way to bring at least the rail strike to an end within a few days. If he does, he will have performed a signal public service.

Our Leading Writer
(From the Louisville Courier-Journal)
America's leading literary light is who? To decide this question, the Literary Digest collected the opinions of twenty-nine professional book-commentators. The answer they gave is Joseph Hergesheimer. That, of course, is no indication of popular taste. It is based upon the preferences, whims and likes of such men as Henry L. Mencken and Ludwig Lewisohn, neither of whom is any more representative of America than is Mr. Hergesheimer.

The Mencken-Lewisohns are accustomed to trafficking in morasses of racy French literature. They have attained that peak of rarefied high-browism where the palate quickens only upon high-seasoned criticism. They are proponents of that school of literature which preaches obedience to instinct and which justifies anything providing it is done in the name of self-expression. For the Mencken-Lewisohns and their clan, Hergesheimer represents the last word in the progress of American literature.

No doubt his last book, "Cytherea," with its long-winded discourses on the vagaries of the human nervous system, convinced them of his leadership. The significance of his choice is simply that they have enthroned a man who has espoused late in his career their own ideals.

Farther than that the Mencken-Lewisohns have expressed their own choice, the selection of Joseph Hergesheimer as America's leading literary light means nothing. Certainly a hundred years from now such drivel as "Cytherea" will not command an audience. If Hergesheimer survives, it will be in some earlier work which he did before debasing himself and gaining the delighted approbation of our "intellectuals."

The incident suggests that, as much as it needs a native literature, America needs a native critical school. The men whom the Digest recognizes as "leading critics" are measuring and valuing the output of our authors from the standpoint of decadent continentalism. They are merely second hand editions of French and German critical masters. When it is considered that such men exert great power over young authors in determining the trend of literary achievement, the need for criticism based on American manners and ideals is all the more recognized.

TOMAHAWK TO LOSE VALLEY ROAD SHOPS

Removal to Merrill or Wausau is Predicted and Latter City is Favored

The valley division round house and machine shops of the Milwaukee road are soon to be removed from Tomahawk to some other city, according to P. H. Nee, the divisional superintendent. Merrill has offered the railroad a site for its shops. Wausau is being favorably considered because of its central location.

"The removal of the shops from Tomahawk has been considered for several years," Mr. Nee declared, "and the fact that the men are out on strike now gives us an opportunity to have them removed with little inconvenience." The repair work is being done in Wausau at present.

If the shops are located in Wausau, after the necessary permits are received from the city, it will mean that about forty families will go there to live. It will also mean that the present round house of four stalls will be increased to about ten stalls and a machine shop, 30x50 feet, will be built. The machinery in the Tomahawk shops will be dismantled soon and brought to the new headquarters as soon as their location is decided.

The shops have been located at Tomahawk ever since the valley division was established, it being expected that Tomahawk would be the terminal and indications pointed to the fact that that city was destined to be a railroad center as it was expected that other railroads would have shops there.

MOVE TO STAMP OUT CIVIL WAR IN ITALY

Five Provinces Under Martial Law and Government Acts to Safeguard Rome

Rome, Italy, Aug. 7.—With five provinces under martial law, the government moved to stamp out the civil war that is raging between the Fascist and Socialists, which started in an uprising of the former Friday. Premier Facta planned to establish the iron rule of the military in other towns where fighting between the Nationalists and Radicals threatened. Seven cities were in the grip of the Fascist Saturday night. Fearing the Fascists may attempt to seize Rome, the government took all necessary measures.

Facta is in receipt of information of the existence of subversive military organization in the capital. Armed troops with machine guns are on guard at the chamber of deputies in Rome. Fascist leaders have ordered their adherents to concentrate about the chamber on Wednesday. "The meet will probably be greatly disturbed if Premier Facta is present," a Fascist communique stated.

Police and military authorities today were under orders to prevent the concentration of Fascists. For this reason a limitation was placed on the circulation of motor cars. Comparative quiet prevailed in the provinces of Genoa, Milan, Ancona, Parma and Leghorn, where martial laws have been established.

State Convention of Moose Awarded To Stevens Point

Stevens Point has landed another convention for 1923. The Loyal Order of Moose will come here for its state meeting next year.

In response to an invitation extended by Mayor J. N. Welsby to the state convention now being held at Monroe, the mayor has just received the following reply:

"Hurrah for Stevens Point! Loyal Order of Moose voted unanimously to hold 1923 state convention in Stevens Point. Notify Journal. W. E. Teichert."

Mayor Welsby's invitation, addressed to W. F. Tanhauser, president of the state association, read as follows:

"In behalf of the citizens of Stevens Point I most heartily extend to the Loyal Order of Moose an invitation to hold their 1923 convention in the City of Stevens Point. Our new hotel, section of its size in the state, speaks for the accommodations. The citizens have arranged to throw their doors wide open throughout our city. Brother Moose, count on me as mayor of this city to do my part toward entertaining you. Please come and leave the rest to me. I am sure you won't be sorry. For your information be advised our new Moose home will also be completed. Let me have at my expense a wire saying 'Hurrah for Stevens Point!'"

BLAINE USING TRICK TO GET VOTES, CLAIM

Committee of 44 Answers Back Tax Contentions Made By Governor

Milwaukee, Wis., August 7.—The Citizens' Republican State Conference through State Senator George B. Skogmo, secretary, today issued a statement charging that Governor Blaine is seeking to "foist on the voters of Wisconsin the most colossal misrepresentation and the most daring political trick ever attempted in the history of our commonwealth."

The claim of the governor and Senator LaFollette that the present state administration has recovered more than a half million dollars fraudulently withheld from income tax payments by corporations is characterized in the statement as "a political bluff of such magnitude, yet so easily disproven, that it is surprising that politicians of the LaFollette-Blaine-Berger-Townley type, would not hit upon something which had a few pillars of truth to uphold what otherwise can be shown to be a complete and utter fabrication."

What Conference Claims

It is claimed in the conference's statement:

1. That all credit for the recovery of about $600,000 in corporation income taxes belongs to the tax commission, only one member of which was recently named by Governor Blaine, long after investigations had been started and many completed.

2. That the work was well under way and that $100,000 had been recovered or was being recovered before Governor Blaine had even taken office and that the work would have been continued under any governor elected.
3. That there is nothing to show that Governor Blaine was even aware of the work which was going on until late in 1921 when his consent as governor and member of the emergency board, was asked to a move to transfer $40,000 from the soldiers' educational bonus to the tax commission's appropriation to make possible the employment of more field agents.

4. That although the law provides for a heavy cash penalty and for criminal prosecution in cases where fraud can be shown, there have been fewer than a dozen penalties collected, the sum total of which has been practically negligible and that there has not been a single case of prosecution under the criminal statute.
5. That if Governor Blaine has the evidence to substantiate his statements that these sums have been fraudulently withheld, he has, in failing to institute proceedings, been guilty of a neglect of duty which "should infect him summarily before the voters of the state at the primaries."

6. That every recovery which has thus far been made has been the result of the work of agents of the tax commission in checking returns—an activity in which both state and federal agents have been engaged for ten years—and that no instance could be discovered where conferences did not result in a settlement satisfactory to both sides, not a single appeal having been taken to the courts.

The statement of the conference, signed by Senator Skogmo, follows:

Calls it Political Trick

"An attempt is being made to foist on the voters of Wisconsin what in our opinion is the most colossal misrepresentation and the most daring political trick ever attempted in the history of our commonwealth. Governor Blaine in his speeches throughout the state is attempting to create the impression that corporations are withholding fraudulently millions of dollars due the state in income taxes, that he made the discovery of this situation and his administration is now at work making collections and enriching the treasury by hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"The governor tells his audiences how surprised he was when these facts were brought to his attention by some mysterious visitor, the astonishment he felt and how he was spurred on in his efforts toward bringing about settlement. The governor's story varies somewhat in his speeches but what he means his hearers to believe is that these alleged frauds were uncovered by him. In one of his versions, the governor was sick in bed when the astounding revelations were made to him by this unnamed messenger."

"Undoubtedly the public records are at hand to expose what must forever go down in our state's history as political chicanery beyond the power of words to describe. The surprising element in the entire situation is that crafty politicians of the LaFollette-Blaine-Berger-Townley order would hit on a political bluff of such magnitude yet so easily disproven, because there are not even a few pillars of truth to uphold what otherwise can be shown to be a complete and utter fabrication."

Done by Tax Commission

"The records of Wisconsin legislation show that every move for the collection of taxes withheld by corporations, which could be collected under the law by proper auditing methods, came from the tax commission of this state and that the start was made and substantial amounts recovered before Governor Blaine even took office as governor on Jan. 2, 1921. Mr. Blaine had been serving a comparatively quiet and uneventful term as attorney general and it is extremely doubtful that he even knew what the tax commission was doing."

"It will be necessary to cite briefly some of the recent legislation history of Wisconsin to prove beyond the peradventure of a doubt that Governor Blaine has chosen the road of tricks and deception as the one which he thinks will lead him to a second term in the highest office within the gift of the voters of our state."

"The first real move for the collection of income taxes to which, it was believed, the state was entitled but which it was unable to collect because of lack of a trained and competent force of auditors and field agents to check up returns came during the 1919 session of the legislature. At that time at the request of the tax commission the finance committee of the legislature sponsored a bill giving the commission $15,000 for each of the year of 1919 and 1920 with which to do this work."

"The 1920 report of the Wisconsin tax commission shows that the results of this work, which was begun and planned before Governor Blaine even took office and without his having any knowledge of it, netted $102,831, the results of the examination of the returns of 127 corporations. It will thus appear that Governor Blaine has stolen most of his present campaign thunder from a two year old report of the Wisconsin tax commission."

Gives Blaine No Credit

"Not even the suggestion, embodied in a law at the special session, that the commission be empowered to go back six years instead of three in examining income tax returns, can rightfully be credited to Governor Blaine. A bill to that effect was introduced at the regular 1921 session by Assemblyman Edwards of Waukegan. It passed the house but failed in the senate. It failed for lack of a champion there, no member appearing to be aware of its exact purpose. Not one of the floorleaders of the administration raised his voice for passage of the bill to which Governor Blaine only a few months later attached so much importance."

"It is the demand of the Citizens' Republican State Conference that every penny of income tax rightfully belonging to the state be collected. The conference reiterates its charge made in its platform adopted at the Milwaukee Auditorium June 1, that Governor Blaine has been shamefully deficient in his duty in not insisting on prosecution of those guilty of the fraud which he declares exists."

"Not only has the state made additional collections of income taxes but it has paid back to taxpayers thousands of dollars found to have been paid in excess of the amount actually due and collectable. Other and larger amounts would have been paid back except for the provision which requires that taxes to be recoverable under the law, must be paid under protest."

"Another fact revealed during the investigation of facts was that thousands of individuals, whose income taxes have been reviewed, have made erroneous returns. A checking up of payrolls has revealed a considerable number of shortages in individual incomes reported. The local tax assessors have taken the view that these discrepancies were the result of errors, made without intent to defraud, and the returns have been amended without penalty where the taxpayer has conceded his error."

"Does Governor Blaine charge these thousands of citizens with having committed fraud?"

Misrepresentation Charged

"From these statements of facts to which the public records will attest it must become apparent to the voters of Wisconsin that Governor Blaine is attempting to secure his re-election by a campaign of gigantic misrepresentation which is without parallel."

"He is charging that wholesale frauds are being committed upon the state. Why does he not prosecute?"

"He is seeking to make the voters believe that to him belongs the credit for tax recoveries which have been made. Have the public records been falsified?"

"In the belief that the interests of our state can be best served when the truth is known to all and when justice and fairness prevail, the Citizens' Republican State Conference has seen fit to investigate the facts in this matter, which Governor Blaine has chosen to make a campaign issue, and place them before the voters."

COSTS ARE FOUR TIMES AMOUNT OF FINE LEVIED

Costs which totaled more than four times the amount of the fine were assessed by Judge W. F. Owen in municipal court Friday morning when Chester Whitman pleaded guilty to a charge of using obscene language. Whitman was arraigned early last week on complaint of Cecil Carr, and pleaded not guilty to the charge. Adjudgment was taken to Friday morning, when, on advice of his counsel, Whitman changed his plea. The fine was $5 and the costs amounted to $21.63.

AUTO EXHIBITION TO BE A FEATURE AT THE FAIR HERE

Mammoth Tent to House Latest Models of All Motor Cars at Show of Local Association

One of the features that will help to make the 1922 Stevens Point fair August 15, 16, 17 and 18, "bigger and better than ever," will be the exhibition of automobiles and accessories, being planned by local motor car dealers.

The exhibit will be the largest that has ever been shown here according to plans of local auto men. The local dealers have arranged to house all the different exhibits under one big tent, 60 by 150 feet in size. This tent was made as a special job in a factory, and is so large that it will be necessary to raise the poles with a tractor.

The auto exhibits will consist of full lines of 1923 models. The tent will be lighted by an independent farm lighting outfit and exhibits of auto accessories and other automobile conveniences will be made in separate booths in the big tent.

Plans of the auto dealers are being made in co-operation with the fair association, and it is hoped to make the automotive exhibit one of the big features of this year's fair.

The car exhibit has always been a popular one in the past, and it is expected that many visitors at the grounds will take advantage of the opportunity afforded them to see the latest models of their favorite automobiles.

Make Plans for Going on State Tour And for State Show in Stevens Point

The Palace theatre at Waupaca was filled Friday night with potato growers, their friends and families who came to listen to a series of potato talks and see potato slides and special movies. Manager Ollie Brown of the theatre donated the use of the theatre, and entertained those present with four reels of western and comedy pictures.

After outlining the purpose of the meeting, Mr. Dance introduced Prof. J. G. Milward who spoke on "Organization of Potato Development Work in Wisconsin." Prof. Milward is secretary of the State Potato Growers' association, which was organized ten years ago at Waupaca.

County Agent W. W. Clark of Portage county outlined plans for the state potato show and convention to be held at Stevens Point during the week of October 30, and invited Waupaca county growers to assist in showing the rest of the state what central Wisconsin is doing in raising spuds.

President Frihart and Secretary Hayward of the Waupaca County Potato Growers association spoke in favor of making an adequate showing at the state show and explained what work is necessary in selecting what potatoes. VILLAGE ASKS AUDIT

Nekoosa Residents Want Accounts of Deceased Clerk Gone Over

The books of the village of Nekoosa are to be audited in the near future by an auditor from the state upon request of some of the residents of Nekoosa. The request has been made, it is understood, because of the irregularities of accounts due the village by a former clerk, now deceased.

It is understood that the village books have been audited by a committee of the board and reported to be in shape with the exception of one item of money which was never turned over to the village by the late clerk. Some of the citizens are said to be desirous of a further audit and hence have requested that a state auditor be invited to go over the books. In all probability the state will send an auditor to Nekoosa upon the invitation of the village board, upon the request of the citizens seeking the second audit.

GOVERNOR HITS AT TAX DODGERS IN SPEECH HERE

Stands on Record as Governor, He Tells Big Audience Friday

Governor John J. Blaine, in an address at the court house square Friday evening, hurled a challenge at his opponents to point out one substantial act of either commission or omission during his present term that can be rightfully condemned.

Declaring that he is standing upon his record of accomplishments as Wisconsin's chief executive, he asked the people to judge for themselves whether he had made a good governor, and if, in their opinion he had, to return him to office.

Mr. Blaine's speech included a resume of his record at Madison, the story of his crusade against tax dodgers, a scathing attack against the Committee of 44 and a long explanation of his pardoning of ex-service men. Commendation for Senator Robert M. LaFollette was not omitted in the course of the address.

The meeting was one of the largest and most successful political gatherings held in Stevens Point in many months. The governor talked to an audience of 1,500 friends and sympathizers, and a dozen times during his message he was loudly applauded. Although speaking for nearly two hours, he held the close attention of his hearers from start to finish and few left until it was all over. Mr. Blaine came here from Waupaca, Amherst and Rosholt, where he spoke earlier in the day before good-sized crowds. On his tour of Portage county he was accompanied by James G. Vennie, president of the local Progressive club. From here he went to Junction City and then to Neilsville.

Called Many Names
Governor Blaine opened his address by telling how he had been called "bolshervik," then "radical," the "veto governor," the "tightwad governor" and finally the "pardoning governor." "I am proud of all these names," he said, "and especially the latter. I have taken men out of jails and put them in hospitals and in vocational training where they ought to have been in the first place. Under my administration there has been no bolshevism and no destruction as my opponents predicted, there have been no riots in the state and no men dragged from their homes to be insolently treated. The workmen have preserved their splendid organization with credit."

Mr. Blaine asserted that two years ago when he took up the duties of his office he found both houses of the legislature and every committee except the agricultural committee organized against him. "I was unable to put through a constructive policy of economy to any great degree because about the only power I had was that of the veto and I admit that I did exercise that freely. I vetoed over 30 bills and the last record before that was 33. But by doing so I have saved over a million dollars for the people of Wisconsin."

Referring to his stand on the bill regarding private detective agencies, which he vetoed, Governor Blaine declared that it permitted slugs and gunmen to come into the state for the purpose of riding down workmen when they were on strike and intimidating them. When a representative of labor organizations called upon him at Madison to ask him to exercise his veto power on this bill he answered that the request was unnecessary as he was already convinced that it should be vetoed. Mr. Blaine declared. In reference to his veto of a bill relating to workmen's compensation, the governor declared that while it appeared harmless on the outside, it provided for discrimination in industries showing the least hazard. In effect it meant getting rid of old employees, some of whom were slightly crippled, and it meant permitting insurance companies to put men out of their jobs, he said.

Predicts Tax Reduction
Governor Blaine then turned to the question of taxation and asserted that he had saved the state $2,000,000 from the federal highway system but that the state could still build all the roads it needs and can afford. He prophesied a tax reduction in 1935, which he said would be the first in many years. Tax dodgers have been withholding millions upon millions of dollars in Wisconsin, he charged, but said that as a result of the investigation he had started, they are now being compelled to pay huge amounts into the state treasury.

Friendly to Carmen
The governor referred briefly to railroad carmen, declaring that he had advocated passage of legislation protecting carmen against weather and storm, but that the Committee of 44 and those of the committee who were in the legislature, had voted against it and had defeated it. A basic eight hour law and an increase in workmen's compensation, both of which he had also advocated, were also defeated by the same forces, Mr. Blaine charged. Some legislation with reference to child welfare had been passed, he said, and suffrage had been granted to women. He termed the progressive bill as being known as the best in the United States and briefly told of the bill which had passed a double purpose of protecting the dairy interests of the state and safeguarding the health of the people, especially of the babies.

Attack on Committee of 44
At this point in his speech the governor launched an attack upon the Committee of 44, which he termed the old stalwarts, camouflaged in name and purpose. "They are ashamed of the name 'stalwart' and at their meeting in Milwaukee, instead of planning a constructive policy, condemned the name of Senator LaFollette and then turned around and damned me three or four times," Mr. Blaine charged. "Their campaign is one of abuse. They don't talk about taxation and labor laws. And they don't talk about the Newberry case, either. This is an issue in Wisconsin because the people should know what is going on in the matter of corruption." Mr. Blaine then attacked Senator Newberry, charging that he had bought his seat in the senate and that he had prostituted the American uniform by posing as a naval officer in battle, in a New York park to deceive voters in Michigan when they saw pictures of him, while in reality he had never left New York. The governor urged the return of Senator LaFollette to Washington so that he might be given an opportunity to offer a second resolution for the ousting of Newberry. After Newberry's trial in the senate he was seated by only six votes, the speaker said.

Mr. Blaine termed the Esch-Cummings law as being "the most vicious piece of legislation enacted in a century because it is fundamentally wrong in principle" and quoted Dr. Ganfield, candidate for senator in opposition to LaFollette, as having declared that he did not know much about the law but would study it up after going to the senate. "Think of a citizen of Kentucky talking like that and expecting to get away with it," Mr. Blaine concluded. He termed the law an enslavement of men working upon the railroads.

After the Tax Dodgers

The governor then went into a long explanation of the investigation he had ordered in the cases of tax dodgers, and named numerous Kenosha and Milwaukee firms as having withheld big sums of money, also quoting the figures. He charged that big corporations were lining their pockets with gold while the manhood of the state was dying on the battlefields, but that these firms were not being compelled to pay withheld income taxes. He justified his stand in calling a special session of the legislature by the assertion that the investigation should go back six years instead of three and the corporations be made to pay all the money they have withheld.

In referring to his policy of economy, Mr. Blaine said that the Normal school of Stevens Point needed to have its library remodeled, but that he had laid down a rule not to approve of a single bill that added $1 to the taxes of the over-burdened taxpayer. "But out of these income taxes collected, we will have enough money to let these projects go on," he said.

The governor referred in detail to the Memorial hospital building for Wisconsin and to the things which it will make possible, especially the restoration of the health of ex-service men. He said there would be enough money to maintain it from back taxes which profiters are being made to pay. "I started this job of going after these tax dodgers and am asking the opportunity to finish it," Mr. Blaine said. "If you don't want these income taxes collected you had better elect me governor."

Mr. Blaine referred in sharp terms to a campaign fund which he said was started in Milwaukee to defeat himself and Senator LaFollette at the next election. He read names of corporations which he had previously mentioned as having withheld income taxes, as being heavy contributors to this fund. "And then the Committee of 44 sends out an appeal for dollar collections," the governor added, terming this a "great snake screen." He said that the Committee of 44 had condemned him for charging that a million dollars had been withheld by big corporations and then had condemned him again for not collecting it. Not one, but many millions have been withheld, Mr. Blaine alleged.

His Pardon Record
The last half hour of Mr. Blaine's speech was given over to an explanation of his pardoning of ex-service men. Although charged with being the pardoning governor, he had not even been as liberal as his predecessor, he said. Mr. Blaine referred in glowing terms to the ex-service men and what they had done for the nation, and declared that he would continue to pardon them for mistakes when he sees that they will be allowed to be released from behind prison bars. He declared that he was out on the offensive on his pardon record and had nothing to defend, and that he was out for vindication on that point. He charged that the Committee of 44 is short of ammunition in discussing his pardoning of soldiers and read an article from "Stars and Stripes" publication in the interests of ex-service men, in which Mr. Blaine was commended for the stand he had taken.

SOO LINE IS ORDERED

TO BUILD NEW STATION

Madison, Wis., Aug. 9. In an order to the Soo Line today the Wisconsin railroad commission ordered the construction of a depot and sufficient station facilities to accommodate the traffic needs of Newwood, Clark county. Plans for this station, which will be the terminus of four or five direct trains, are at present in place with a tender. About 100 tons of lumber are being used for the station.

CASE DISMISSED AGAINST HURLBUT FRIDAY AFTERNOON

No Testimony Given at Two Previous Hearings Placing Blame for Assault of Two Workmen Upon Defendant

The assault case against Luman Hurlbut, one of three Soo line men on strike who were made defendants on complaints sworn to by John W. Wiza and William Mansavage, Soo workmen, was dismissed by Judge W. F. Owen Friday afternoon on motion of the defense attorney B. J. Carpenter. The cases against John Lund and Hilan Scribner, the two other defendants, were dismissed earlier in the week after preliminary hearings when testimony of witnesses for the state failed to identify the men as participants in the assault.

While no hearing was held in the Hurlbut case, testimony taken at both the Lund and Scribner hearings indicated that no witnesses could offer any evidence against Hurlbut except that he was standing about 50 feet from the Michigan avenue crossing of the Soo line at the time Wiza and Mansavage were kidnapped there. He was on picket duty at the time. No claim was made by any of the witnesses that Hurlbut was on the crossing when the two men were taken or that he had any part in the affair. The Hurlbut case appeared to be the weakest of the three.

DISCHARGE GUARDS AFTER FIGHT HERE

Chicago Men Replaced by Stevens Pointers After Fracas With Deputy Sheriff

Discharge of four guards employed by the Soo line and their departure from the city on a night train followed a fight between one of them and Alex Palash of Buena Vista, a deputy sheriff, near the roundhouse here at 6:20 o'clock Sunday evening.

Jealousy between the two groups of officers, the guards and the deputies, is said to have been at the bottom of the Sunday evening affair. Immediately after the fight the guards were disbanded and discharged by Soo officials.

According to Palash, who suffered a blackened eye and a cut on his forehead, one of the guards approached him as he was walking through the yards on his way to work, and demanded to see his revolver. The guards contended that revolvers and flashlights had been stolen from them, according to Palash. He replied that he knew nothing about their claim and refused to show his revolver. The fight followed.

Immediately after the discharge of the four guards, four Stevens Point men were hired to take their place and went on duty Sunday evening, Soo officials reported.

Mrs. Caleb Seely, Plainfield, was seriously injured and a car belonging to her son Malcolm Seely, 206 Mary street, damaged, in a collision on highway 10 at the Spiritland school Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The Seely car was struck by an auto driven by a resident of Wautoma, whose name was not learned by the Journal.

Mrs. Seely is a patient at St. Michael's hospital in Stevens Point with internal injuries, her right eye ball cut, right collar bone fractured, and her right shoulder badly bruised.

Her husband, who was sitting in the back seat of the automobile, received lacerations and scratches on both of his legs. Mrs. Malcolm Seely, another occupant of the car, who was sitting in the front seat with her husband, who was driving, was unharmed. Slight scratches and bruises were suffered by persons in the Wautoma machine.

The rear of the Seely auto was struck by the Wautoma car. It is stated, the collision occurring just at the Spiritland cross roads. Mrs. Seely was thrown from the car for a distance of ten feet. Her right eye was cut from broken glass from her spectacles, which she was wearing at the time of the accident.

She was given medical attention, and then taken to St. Michael's hospital here. Mr. Seely, her husband, was also given attention, and was able to be about as usual Monday.

ECONOMY FAVORED IN WOOD COUNTY

Fifty Out of 100 Districts Heard from Would Bring About Cut in Expenses

Fifty of the one hundred school districts in Wood County are said to have voted solidly in favor of the economy drive principles advocated by P. B. Amundson of Pittsville, who has been conducting the drive in that county since the later part of June. Mr. Amundson reported that he had received replies from half of the 100 districts which he circularized and that with the exception of two districts, all voted unanimously to all the propositions for economy in the county. One district out of fifty replying is said to have opposed the removal of the county nurse and the other district voted 91 per cent in favor of all the propositions, while the balance, or 48 were unanimous for all the proposals.

The following are the five propositions offered by Mr. Amundson in his drive for economy: (1) That all county officials and school teachers' salaries be cut 25 per cent. (2) That a county nurse be no longer employed. (3) That there be no more money appropriated for cement roads outside of the bond issue. (4) That the county board make every possible effort to reduce expenses. (5) That city aldermen, town chairmen and supervisors be elected for a term of one year only. Of these five proposals all but one district favored all and all those favoring the propositions were unanimous, save one which was 91 per cent favorable to all Mr. Amundson explained.

Injunction Copies Are Posted in City By Soo Line Agents

Copies of the preliminary injunction granted to the Soo line railroad by Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger in the United States district court for the eastern district of Wisconsin were posted at conspicuous places about the Soo line yards here Thursday afternoon by railway agents.

As defendants in the proceedings are named 11 Stevens Point men, as follows: Paul L. Moran, Charles Gaudette, Louis Eldeph, Frank A. Resch, Henry Marion, Albert Holdrege, James G. Vennie, E. C. Holman, E. W. Flood, James McKelvie, James Crowley, Robert Frank, Harold McCallum and Edward Graham.

The injunction enjoins and restrains the defendants named, and all other persons "abstaining, agreeing, arranging, acting, co-operating, combining, confederating or conspiring in any manner" with them from performing a number of acts which are enumerated in 18 paragraphs. The injunction, in effect, is the same as the restraining order granted July 22.

Paragraph 1 in the injunction forbids the defendants and others from "engaging in the practice commonly known as 'picketing', that is to say, from assembling or causing to assemble men in sympathy with the strike at points of ingress and egress of plaintiffs' shops, or in proximity to plaintiffs' property, where its presence, employees, or required to work."

The following paragraphs enumerate in detail other acts which are forbidden. "Picketing" was being continued by the local members of the shop crafts unions, it was stated at the strike headquarters being maintained by the union at 200 S. Adams avenue.

Sixty men are on duty at all times it was declared, and have not been taken away because of the injunction. It was claimed that "picketing" as practiced by the unions here could not be stopped. The men are kept on public property and it was stated, were interfering with the business of the railroad. It was declared also that the men were prevented from talking to passers by the yards if the picketers wished to converse with them on the grounds.

Attention was given at the local offices of the Soo line that steps would be taken to stop picketing here, under the provisions of the injunction. As far as it was learned by the Journal, there were no United States marshals in the city to enforce the injunction. The order of Federal Judge Geiger would constitute a contempt of court.

DR. KREMBS EXPIRES BRING HIS REMAINS HOME FROM SUPERIOR

Fight to Save Life of Popular Local Dentist, Stricken While on a Visit, Futile—Death Comes at 6 p. m. Wednesday

Dr. Franz J. Krembs is dead. When this information was circulated about town Wednesday and Thursday it caused profound grief to hundreds of friends who recognized in this young man one of Stevens Point's most honorable and progressive citizens and who was held in high regard by everybody.

Dr. Krembs went to Superior to accompany home his wife and little daughter, who visited at the home of Mrs. Krembs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Schulhof. While walking through one of the rooms at the Schulhof residence, Dr. Krembs stumbled against an article of furniture, injuring him slightly, but because of impaired physical health due to an infection of the teeth, it is believed to have brought on an apoplectic attack and he lapsed into unconsciousness that evening. He was removed to a hospital and several specialists called but he failed to rally, passing away at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening.

His family physician, Dr. W. F. Cowan, spent Monday at Superior, and three of his brothers and a nephew, Anton C. and Alex Krembs of this city, E. A. Krembs of Merrill and Ferdinand Krembs, also went to that city early in the week via automobile.

Franz J. Krembs, youngest son of the late Alexander Krembs and Mrs. Krembs, was a native of Stevens Point, born here 36 years ago the 18th of October. He attended local parochial and public schools, later taking a course in dentistry at Northwestern university, Chicago, and received his diploma in June, 1908. His older brother, Moritz Krembs, was a member of the same class, both returning here that summer and engaging in the practice of their profession, under the firm name of Drs. M. J. & F. J. Krembs. A few years ago they opened separate offices, Dr. Franz J. Krembs having quarters in the Frost block on Main street and Strongs avenue.

Eleven years ago last October the deceased was married to Miss Irma Schulhof, only child of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Schulhof, now of Superior.

Dr. and Mrs. Krembs are the parents of a two year old daughter, Shirley Krembs.

Other near relatives are his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Krembs, and five brothers, Fritz A., Anton C., Alex and Moritz of this city and Emil A. Krembs of Merrill.

During the past several years Dr. Franz Krembs served as secretary of the Stevens Point dental association. His fraternal connections included membership in the Elks, Knights of Columbus, and of the Loyal Order of Moose.

In his business and social connections he was at the pinnacle and his untimely death is deeply mourned by all.

To his wife and little one, his widowed mother and brothers the sympathy of the entire community is extended.

BLAINE CRITICIZED FOR TAX BILL VETO

Easier for Corporations and Individuals to Defraud the State Paulsen Asserts

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 7.—"By his veto of the bill passed at the special session of the legislature last spring, which went a long way toward giving the people freer access to income tax returns, Governor Blaine stifled the will of the people, and is now making political capital of the exclusive privilege of access to the returns," Martin Paulsen, candidate for the republican nomination for secretary of state, declared in a speech here Sunday.

"By his veto of this bill, the governor made it easier for corporations and individuals to defraud the state," Paulsen said.

"Such a benefit if income taxes are illegally withheld. Mr. Blaine will be in a large measure responsible, because public officials charged with law enforcement cannot prosecute tax evaders unless they have the necessary information."

"Either the governor did not believe that half a loaf was better than none, or else he wanted the exclusive right, exclusive of the tax commission, to know what was going on in order that he might make political capital of it."

POSED AS A MINISTER

NOW LANGUISHES IN JAIL
S. Donald Rogers, who posed as a Quaker minister in Stevens Point a year ago, when he sold books, hinting that a Quaker colony might be started here, is now languishing in the county jail of Door county. Rogers was placed in the jail there on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses after investigation of his activities had been made by the Surgeon Bay chamber of commerce. He was also arrested and imprisoned at Cedar Rapids, Ia., it is stated, shortly after he left this city.

WALT CORRIGAN ATTACKS TWO IN SPEECH IN CITY

Ganfield, Morgan, Severely
Censured by Native of the County

Pres. W. A. Ganfield of Carroll college, committee of 44 candidates for the Republican nomination as United States senator from Wisconsin and William J. Morgan, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Wisconsin, were attacked by Walter D. Corrigan in his speech on the "Progressive Movement," at the court house square here Wednesday evening. A crowd of nearly 300 heard him. James G. Venable, president of the Portage county Progressive association, introduced Mr. Corrigan.

Of President Ganfield, the native of Portage county said: "Ganfield will not become a citizen of Wisconsin until August 28, if he remains in the state that long. Some one had to be made the goat and the man from Kentucky may not discover it until the campaign is over."

Wouldn't Know Trust
Morgan was sarcastically called a "trust buster" by Mr. Ganfield, who went on to explain "If Morgan should ever meet a trust in the street he wouldn't know what it was. If he had to try a trust busting suit he wouldn't know how to do it. In the two-cent fare case argued in the supreme court, Blaine had to send a special counsel because he couldn't seem to make Morgan understand what the suit was all about. The Esch-Cummins law took our two-cent fare in the state away from us."

In Mr. Corrigan's speech, Robert M. LaFollette's law term was praised, the Esch-Cummins law was damned, "Newberryism" attacked, the liquor question was termed one not worthy of being raised, the secrecy clause of the income tax extolled, and Governor Blaine's pardon record, the child and women's labor laws, the co-operative movement and Senator LaFollette all received their meed of praise.

Not an Office Seeker
In his opening statements Mr. Corrigan told his hearers, "Two years ago, a short time after I had spoken here, your local paper said or inferred that the reason why I spoke was because I expected the appointment to the supreme court. It is now my pleasure to refute that, for you see I am still out. I am not an office seeker. I have no axe to grind. The supreme court justiceship has been declined by me and if I knew any office was seeking me I would avoid it."

"My reason for speaking in the interests of the Progressive movement is because it is making a fight for the upbuilding of the state and for the standards of democracy as they were expressed in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution."

ORVIS AND KOLTZ SENTENCED BY PARK

Three Years in Green Bay, Term in Waukesha Industrial School is Punishment

George Orvis and Joseph Koltz, local young men who were arrested and charged with the larceny of the sedan of L. J. N. Murat and who pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned in Justice G. L. Park's court, were sentenced Saturday by Judge Byron B. Park in circuit court.

Orvis was given a sentence of three years in the state reformatory at Green Bay, and Koltz, who is 16 years of age, was ordered committed to the industrial school at Kaukauba until he becomes 21 years of age. Orvis' wife and their infant child were in the court room when he was sentenced.

Fines of $150 and costs were meted out by Judge Park in the case of two Wood county men when they pleaded guilty to charges of violation of the liquor laws.

H. W. Lipka a resident of Pittsville, and Elmer Johnson, a Wisconsin Rapids man, each pleaded guilty to having had in their possession and sold intoxicating liquor. If the fines are not paid in each case, they must spend four months in the Wood county jail.

DETOURS AT WAUSAU
Traffic Diverted from No. 10 While
New Concrete is Being Laid

Traffic on highway No. 10 at Wausau is being diverted over detours, according to the Wausau Record Herald, which contains the following:

A second detour on state highway No. 10 has been made necessary by the tearing up and grading of the section between W. Bridge and Randolph streets preparatory to the laying of concrete. Traffic is now directed north on N. First avenue to W. Wausau avenue, east to Cherry street, north to Randolph and west to No. 10. From Randolph street to the Hoffman place No. 10 will not be torn up for a time, but beyond Hoffman's the present detour will be in use for some time. The county road officials and the contractors are doing what is possible to cause the least inconvenience to travelers, but the nature of the construction work makes interference imperative.

TWO GROUPS SEEKING STATE BANK CHARTER

Announcement at Marshfield This Week Draws News of Previous Application

Two separate groups of Marshfield citizens are seeking charters for state banks.

Announcement of the intention of J. H. Cundy, R. Connor and several farmers to apply for a charter brought forth the next day that J. C. Marsh, president of the Marshfield telephone exchange, C. E. Blodgett, wholesale cheese dealer, and seven other prominent business men of that city had previously taken this step.

An interesting contest now seems to have developed as to which group will receive authority to go ahead with its plans, it being the opinion in Marshfield that one of the applications will be denied. Others associated with Messrs. Marsh and Blodgett in their proposed enterprise, are Paul L. Blum, John A. Blum, George B. Booth, A. G. Folker, D. L. Miller, H. K. Roddis and W. H. Upham.

Mr. Marsh and associates made application for a state bank charter on August 1, it developed while Messrs. Cundy and Connor and others announced that they intended to apply for a charter. The news of the latter's plans brought forth the announcement from the first named group. A hearing on the application of the Marsh interests will be held in Madison on Sept. 13. The proposed capitalization is $50,000, the same amount as that proposed by Mr. Cundy and associates. The Cundy interests plan to start a bank in the former State bank building at Marshfield, made vacant by a recent consolidation, while the Marsh interests plan to locate their institution on the north side of the city.

Concerning the announcements made at Marshfield this week, the Daily News of that city prints the following comment:

"Marshfield obviously is big enough for three banks, for up to the time of the disastrous fire which partially destroyed the State bank, that institution enjoyed good patronage. It is a question, however, if the banking commission will grant two charters for state banks here and if there is any likelihood of the city having four banking institutions. The question of deciding which of the two groups of applicants are to be successful in receiving the charter sought remains with Marshall Cousins, if, as announced yesterday, the group of which J. H. Cundy, R. Connor and others, are members, proceeds with the contemplated application. Further developments in the situation will be awaited with interest."

Wilson, Aged 19 Years

Harold, the 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wilson of Plainfield, expired at St. Michael's hospital Friday morning and the remains were taken to Plainfield.

The young man was brought to the local hospital a week before suffering with abscess in the head. A surgical operation failed to bring relief and therefore his death had been looked for during the last few days. His illness extended over a period of six months or longer and necessitated his relinquishing of studies at the Plainfield High school. He was the oldest of a family of several children.

MANY NEW DWELLINGS
Marshfield, like Stevens Point, is experiencing a building boom. It is estimated that 97 homes in that city are either being constructed or renovated at the present time, and that 75 per cent of this number are new homes.

HARVEST OF WINTER GRAINS COMPLETED IN SOUTH COUNTIES

Crops as a Whole Helped by High
Temperatures of Past Week—
Tobacco Reported Small for
This Time of Year

Madison, Wis., Aug. 7—Harvests of winter grains has been completed in the southern districts of Wisconsin, and are well under way in the north, according to the weekly crop report of Agricultural Statistician J. A. Becker of the state crop report service.

"Oats harvest is practically finished in southern counties and is under way in the rest of the state," the report said. "Oats yields are reported generally very satisfactory. The barley harvest, nearly completed, has been reduced some by cold rust, but is up to average. The yield of spring wheat will be below average, due to rust in lake shore counties. Wheat harvests are completed generally with good yields. Rye threshing has begun with yields generally above average."

Crops as a whole were benefited by the high temperatures of the past week, the report said. There was some damage by hail to corn and tobacco in Buffalo and Dane counties.

The growth of corn was stimulated by the warm weather, but the crop is still small for the first week of August. Potatoes are still in very good condition, with occasional reports of slight damage from leafhoppers.

The tobacco crop is small and uneven for this time of year. Cabbage is in excellent condition, and sugar beets are improving.

First cutting of hay have been completed with heavy yields, of which the quality was lowered by frequent rains after cutting. The second crop of clover is declared menaced by mildew which is expected to reduce the yield and lower the quality somewhat.

Livestock is reported to be in good condition for the "dog days."

NORTH FOND DU LAC SHOPS TO REOPEN

Peace Talk Ended, Says Supt. C. M.
Winter, and Starts to Recruit More Men

The Soo line at Fond du Lac threw down the gauge of battle for a finish fight with the striking shop craft men on Thursday when Supt. C. M. Winter announced that the North Fond du Lac car shops would be opened at once with a force of new men, which is now being recruited.

"Peace talk is at an end," said Supt. Winter. "The Soo has settled down to carry out a definite program for opening the shops and operating them with a normal force of men just as soon as the roll can be added to."

"It is our desire to employ all local men in our shops and we are now scouring the community to get workers with the result that on Wednesday we added 25 to the shop roll, three of them being from the ranks of the strikers."

"The road wants the local men in the shops but if we can't get help here we'll have to import help. I say with emphasis that we intend to open the shops. We have had copies of the injunction granted Tuesday by Judge Geiger in federal court sent to all the strikers. We have personally brought the text of the injunction to the attention of the pickets around our plant."

"Picketing is going to stop if we have to make wholesale arrests. We will report all violators of the court order to the federal bench and warrants will be issued. As I said before, peace talk is at an end."

The above statement was made by Superintendent Winter at Fond du Lac Thursday. The determination of the road to cease peace overtures and to map out a program to fill the ranks of the strikers at once, followed a conference Wednesday evening at which A. E. Wallace, general manager from Minneapolis, was present.

Service of the injunction granted the Soo line against picketing, patrolling, guarding or in any way disturbing the premises of the Soo line brought forth a statement from Dennis Doyle, chairman of the Soo federation at Fond du Lac, that the provisions of the injunction would be observed to the letter, and that pickets at railroad property at Fond du Lac and North Fond du Lac would be at once withdrawn. Mr. Doyle stated that he had read the injunction and was satisfied that the intent of the court was to prohibit picketing, patrolling and guarding of Soo line property.

Printed copies of the injunction have been posted at Fond du Lac, Stevens Point, Superior, Chippewa Falls, Rhinelander and other cities where trouble has occurred.

NO FAIR AT AMHERST

Plans Given up in Village Because
Time is too Short

There will be no fair at Amherst this year.

Plans to conduct such an attraction were given up this week at a meeting of village citizens interested in the project, when it was pointed out that the time was too short to complete all of the arrangements.

Amherst, prior to several years ago, conducted fairs a number of times but they were abandoned when state aid was cut off. Interest was revived at Amherst this summer and some money pledged but the plans were abandoned in view of the time element.

It is probable that arrangements for a fair at Amherst for the fall of 1923 will be made early next spring.

VISITORS FROM THREE STATES JOIN IN EVENT

Fine Tributes Paid to P. J. Jacobs as Man Who Does Things

The festivities marking the formal opening of the new home of the Hardware Mutual Insurance companies were concluded Wednesday evening with a brilliant banquet in the spacious dining hall of the insurance building.

With hardware dealers of three states and men high up in the insurance field as guests, the banquet was the crowning event of a notable day in the history of the city of Stevens Point and the Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals. As one speaker expressed it, good fellowship was just bubbling over, and perhaps the happiest person in the hall was P. J. Jacobs—Stevens Point's own "Pete"—who saw, in the completion of the magnificent new building, the realization of his fondest dreams. Every speaker was lavish with praise of the new building and the companies which are to call it "home," but their sincerest tributes were paid to the man whose leadership, hard work and ability made the structure possible—P. J. Jacobs.

Musical Program
Entering the hall to the accompaniment of a selection by the Moose orchestra, the guests, 135 in number, took their places at long tables simply decorated with geranium blooms, smilax and candlesticks. Rev. James C. Hogan pronounced the invocation and the entire assembly joined in the singing of America. The other musical numbers, rendered at intervals during the evening, included solo songs by Miss Ann Benson, contralto solos by Miss Irene Scribner, soprano solos by Miss Eleanor Van Hecke and selections by a quartet composed of A. J. Miller, N. J. Nickles, H. S. Dyer and C. T. McGreevy. Each of these numbers were heartily applauded.

The Banquet Menu
The banquet menu, served by young ladies of the office forces of the two Hardware Mutuals, was as follows:

Meat supreme
Consomme
Brook Trout
Spiked Potatoes
Fried Spring Chicken
Creamed Potatoes
French Peas in Swedish Timbals
Parthenous Rolls
Pineapple Aspic Salad
Cheesed Wafers
Ice Cream Flavors
Demi Tasse
Mints
Cigars
Cigarettes

Mayor a Speaker
Mr. Jacobs, acting as toastmaster, introduced Mayor John N. Welsby as a man who had gone to school with him and had drifted into politics. Mr. Welsby expressed the city's pride in the accomplishments of Mr. Jacobs and humorously explained the reason why the streets surrounding the Hardware building are not paved. He said that owing to the use of part of the streets for the piling of materials while the Hardware and hotel buildings were being erected, it was impossible to do the paving last year. This year it was hoped to have the work done before the opening of the Hardware building, but delays in preparing for the contractors necessitated abandonment of this plan. "Pete kept after me nearly every day to get the paving done and I promised him I'd do everything I could to bring it about," said Mayor Welsby. "Finally, when I found out it would be impossible to have the work done in time, I had to figure out some excuse. So I went to Pete and explained it this way: 'Now Pete, you have made a record growing green grass around your building and you want to keep it green. If we start putting in asphalt paving the heat will spoil the grass.' That was enough. Pete replied, 'I want green grass,' and the incident was closed."

Expresses City's Pride
Charles H. Cashin, counsel for the Hardware Insurance companies, spoke briefly in behalf of the citizens of Stevens Point. He expressed the city's pride in the new building and the companies it is to house and declared it stands as a monument to the directors, officers and servants of the companies.

Praises Hardware Merchants
C. F. Ladner, of St. Cloud, Minn., president of the Minnesota Hardware Mutual, introduced as "the father of association activities," congratulated the policy holders, directors and officers on the completion of their hand some new building. "This building symbolizes the spirit and true activities of the hardware merchant. Wherever you go you will find the hardware dealer a leader in community activities. Why shouldn't the hardware dealers be the leaders in mutual insurance and buildings? I offer the toast that this building may last as long as the pyramids of Egypt and that there will always be a Jacobs at the head of the Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals."

"Pete Started Something"
P. J. Lake of Owatonna, Minn., president of the Minnesota Implement Mutual, said "Pete" Jacobs had started something when he started work on the new home of the Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals. "Why we had never thought of having a home of our own until Pete got started," he said. "We had always felt content to rent a few rooms. But we got the fever from Pete. We purchased a site and started a home of our own, as has also the Minnesota Hardware Mutual. We may not have so elaborate a building as this, but it will be 'home.' The Wisconsin Hardware Mutual building is a monument and an advertisement that is bound to pay for itself."

Result of Vision
"Every big thing comes from a vision," said L. C. Abbot of Marshalltown, Ia., president of the Iowa Hardware Mutual. "Pete Jacobs had a vision and this building represents its realization." Mr. Abbot told of seeing the building in its construction stage and summed up his opinion of it by saying there was only one thing he could see that Mr. Jacobs left off, that being a landing place for airplanes. "In building this structure Pete Jacobs did a big thing for his companies and for Stevens Point. Big things encourage big things, and the erection of this building and the handsome hotel building across the street means more big things for Stevens Point," Mr. Abbot closed with a toast to Mr. Jacobs.

Schlafer Speaks
O. P. Schlafer of Appleton, president of the Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals, and a man who has worked in close cooperation with Mr. Jacobs in all activities of the companies, gave an interesting account of the organization and growth of the business. He told of the transfer of the headquarters from Berlin to Stevens Point in 1912, when four people represented the entire office force, until now the fire company has assets of $1,500,000 and the casualty company assets of $500,000. He gave Mr. Jacobs credit for the wonderful growth of the business and in closing said Stevens Point is to be congratulated on having Mr. Jacobs.

Letter From Absentee
B. Christianson, assistant secretary of the Wisconsin Hardware Dealers' association, read a message from Henry F. Krueger of Neenah, prominent in hardware organization work, who was unable to be present for the opening. Mr. Krueger congratulated the officers, directors and employees of the companies on the beautiful building and the wonderful organization that has been developed by Mr. Jacobs. Referring to the building as a monument to Mr. Jacobs, Mr. Krueger declared that every hardware man in the United States who knows P. J. Jacobs can join in one expression—"He has made good."

"Pride of State"
Platt Whitman, insurance commissioner of Wisconsin and president of the Insurance Commissioners' association, referred to the Hardware building as the result of a vision of long years ago. He declared that the building and the companies it houses are the pride of the whole state. He said he would go even further by saying they belong to the whole United States. "The Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals," he declared, "they have demonstrated that they can make a success of mutual insurance. I never have to make any apologies for the Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals." In closing he congratulated the companies, their officers and directors on the occasion of the opening of the new building, which, he said, testifies to the stability of the companies and the sound business principles on which they are founded.

Big Thing for Town
F. M. Wilcox, chairman of the industrial commissioner of Wisconsin, explained in an interesting way how Wisconsin has legislated to bar from the state insurance companies that do not insure. He said he is proud of Wisconsin's mutual insurance companies and said the new home of the Hardware Mutual is an ornament to Stevens Point and will go far to make this city the chief city of the central part of the state.

Praise from Ekern
The last speaker of the evening was Herman L. Ekern of Madison counsel for the National Association of Mutual Fire and Casualty companies, former insurance commissioner of Wisconsin and now a candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general of the state. Mr. Ekern said he was proud of the progress the Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals have made, and declared this has not been due to accident, but to hard work. "No man in the insurance business stands higher in the business than P. J. Jacobs," he said. "This is the most beautiful insurance building in the United States, and it is a source of satisfaction to me that it was built in Stevens Point and in Wisconsin. I congratulate Mr. Jacobs and his associates on the new building and the great future that is in store for their organizations."

Theater Party
In the course of the program numerous visitors other than those on the program were introduced and at 10 o'clock the program came to a close. Simultaneously with the banquet for the hardware men, their ladies to the number of sixty, were entertained at a banquet in K. C. hall, nearby. After the banquets many of the visitors were guests of the Hardware Mutuals at the Lyric theater, where a special double program was given. Most of the visitors departed on night trains for their homes.

It is interesting to note that all of the officers and directors of the two Wisconsin Hardware Mutuals were present at the festivities on Wednesday. They are: O. P. Schlafer, president; Appleton; R. C. Mardock, vice president; Berlin; P. J. Jacobs, secretary-treasurer; Stevens Point; P. H. Ramm, New London; J. W. Kornel, Milwaukee; R. M. Bartis, Oakdale; J. B. Pierce, Brookfield; J. W. Jones, Racine, and Louis Hirsig, Madison.

Meers, Schlafer, Mardock, Ramm, Kornel and Bartis have been directors of the Hardware Mutual Fire Insurance company since its organization in 1904.

TWO TRAINS ANNULLED ON GREEN BAY ROAD

Passengers Between Wisconsin Rapids and Rail Terminal Off for Lack of Coal

The nation-wide coal shortage was called more forcibly to the attention of Stevens Point people, with the announcement that two passenger trains on the Green Bay and Western rail road were to be discontinued, starting last Monday. No further reductions of passenger service on the Soo line and through Stevens Point were reported at the Soo office here.

The trains annulled on the Green Bay are Nos. 3 and 4, passenger trains which operated between Green Bay and Wisconsin Rapids. No. 3 is the passenger which left Green Bay at 1:10 p. m. and the connecting train for which left here at 4:15 p. m. Service to Wisconsin Rapids from Stevens Point, however, will be given at 1:15 o'clock each afternoon as before, the train from here connecting at Plover with train No. 7, a scheduled freight, which will operate as a mixed train between Plover and the Rapids.

Train No. 4 is the train which left Wisconsin Rapids at 6:50 a. m. and the connecting train for which departed from here at 6:50 also. This passenger arrived at Green Bay at 11:10.

Announcement of the discontinuance of these trains was received by E. C. Tyler, agent at the local Green Bay station, in a long distance telephone message from Green Bay on Saturday. It was stated over the phone that the coal situation in Green Bay was extremely serious.

The Soo line has announced the discontinuance of a resort train operating from Chicago to Waukesha and return, effective August 7. This train carried passengers to and from Chicago and the southern Wisconsin lakes, and operated several times a week only. It is not listed in time tables of the Soo, being a summer train only.
